Commons Votes 326 to 10 For British Manpower Bill

LONDON (CP)—The House of Commons today approved Prime Minister Churchill's plan for maximum mobilization of men and women by a vote of 326 to 10, after putting down an insurgent Labor amendment which called for conscription of wealth.

The amendment, which also would have nationalized many industries, was beaten, 336 to 40.

It previously had been defeated at a caucus which had smoothed over a threatened Labor split on the issue. Labor's leaders both within and without the government opposed the amendment.

In the few debates which have been forced to a vote since Mr. Churchill took office in May, 1940, and took Labor and Liberal leaders into his government, votes against the government have usually fluctuated between 2 and 5.

Determination Proved to World

Mr. Bevin said in an exhaustive review of the work of the Labor ministry, hailed the government's proposals as "an example to the world of Britain's determination."

He said there was great need for more skilled workers in the services, citing their work in Libya in keeping tanks in action.

Duty to Support It, Declares Attlee

It was reported that at a private meeting of Labor members shortly before today's debate Clement Attlee, Lord Privy Seal, made a strong appeal for support of the government's motion.

He told the caucus a vote for nationalization of industries would be a vote against the government.

The bill now goes to the House of Lords.

Held for Court martial

BERLIN (AP)—Sixty-one persons are facing the "strictest sort" of punishment by a court-martial in connection with the dissolution of the Belgian National Legion by German military authorities, it was learned here today.

The Brussels German language newspaper Brueviers Zeitung said ammunition, arms and large amounts of anti-German propaganda were found by German authorities in surprise raids on the Legion, which was founded immediately after the war.

The newspaper said it was supported by a large number of former Belgian officers who "owe their freedom to German generosity."

British Spokesman Says

Germans in Libya Only Sideshow Now

Associated Press
Rain has hampered operations in north Africa for the last 24 hours, an authoritative source in London said today.

British armored columns were reported harassing Axis motorized transports using parts of the road between Tobruk and Cagliari. The Axis vehicles were believed moving from west to east, but their starting point and destination were not given.

In the present phase of the British reorganization in Libya, this London source said, forces are being concentrated while mobile units hold the British defense line.

REORGANIZING

In Cairo, today's communiqué from British Middle East headquarters said fighting on the Libyan desert had lapsed into sporadic raiding. Both sides apparently were reorganizing their forces for new operations.

The communiqué said: "Our forces continue their pressure on isolated enemy centres of resistance."

Three Italian tanks were destroyed in one small engagement, while on the main front, south-east of Tobruk, small bodies of Axis forces, endeavoring to move toward the Sidi Azeiz, were engaged by British mobile columns.

The British command was said in Cairo to have concentrated its main strength on an offensive line from El Gubi northward toward Rezegh, 10 miles below long-besieged Tobruk. This line, it was said, will be the base of future operations against the division of Lieut.-Gen. Erwin Rommel.

NO LONGER THREAT

A high officer in the field gave this inkling of British plans in a discussion of the front with Ed ward Kennedy, Associated Press staff writer:

"Rommel knows he is only a sideshow. He knows his force is now so reduced that he no longer is a threat to Egypt. He knows the fleet is sinking his supplies. He knows the R.A.F. is destroying his petrol dumps."

"He knows it is only a question of time for him, but he will stay and fight. His hope is to reduce our strength. He is a resourceful commander and has good men at his disposal."

"We will knock him out entirely, but it will take some time yet."

Indicating the scope of the desert operations, one Hussar unit covered 8,000 miles of difficult terrain in his tanks in two weeks, fighting an average of two engagements a day. Losses were substantial, but reinforcements have brought the unit back to full strength.

He said that when these devilish machines are really let go casualties and decimation are very heavy."

He said this is the first time in British industry that thousands of women, many of them married, have been compelled to work three shifts.

The one vexed problem facing him was the "frightful turnover of labor—what is called wastage." He described this as the biggest contributing factor to low production. In filling factories, wastage among women working three shifts, he said, was less than 1 percent.

Mr. Bevin said that under the military service acts his department had registered 6,850,000 persons and that a total of 17,000,000 had been registered under all headings, including special industrial registrations, aliens, women and fire watchers.

He said there was great need for more skilled workers in the services, citing their work in Libya in keeping tanks in action.

Battle Rages In Yugoslavia

CAIRO (AP)—Three Axis divisions (45,000 men) and the unconquered guerrilla forces of Gen. Draja Mihailovic were reported by Serbs here to be in battle in the Jugoslav valley of the western Morava.

Supported by tanks and aircraft, a Serb communiqué said, the Axis divisions launched Tuesday what appears to be a general offensive against our position.

"Our forces under Gen. Mihailovic are resisting successfully in the face of furious onslaughts although in the sector of Uzice (a battle town of 12,000 population) enemy tank attacks have obliged one of our units to withdraw," the communiqué said.

The statement was issued following a meeting of some 35 delegates representing 15,000 steel workers in Sydney, N.S.; Trenton, N.S.; Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Hamilton. (Earlier story page 3.)

The delegates today voted to strike action for union recognition of the Kirkland Lake miners, members of the United Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union (C.I.O.).

Mr. Millard said: They pledged immediate co-operation with the strike committee by distribution of information and collection of contributions.

PROMISE SUPPORT

"What further support is necessary to assure success will be mobilized," Mr. Millard said in his statement.

"We believe our fellow workers in this important Canadian industry are pitted against some of the most Fascist-minded employers in America."

"If our government is unable to cope with this anti-labor and anti-social group of selfish employers and does not act quickly," trouble which would develop in the steel industry might apply to other industries as well, Millard said.

The steel workers at today's meeting endorsed a resolution to be forwarded to Prime Minister Mackenzie King urging him to "immediately and publicly announce the genuine acceptance and practice of the policy and principles enunciated in order-in-council 2885, in all government-owned or controlled enterprises and that no contracts, subcontracts or other business over which the government has any control will be given to employers of labor who refuse to recognize their membership."

New Zealand Told Losses Severe

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—Prime Minister Peter Fraser today announced he had been advised by the Middle East command that two senior officers, Brigadiers Reginald Miles and James Hargest, have been captured by the enemy in the Libyan air power.

Mr. Fraser said the New Zealand commander, Maj.-Gen. Bernard Freyberg, had reported severe New Zealand casualties.

Both captured officers have been known as among New Zealand's best soldiers and had been prominent in their division's previous engagements in the Middle East. Brig. Hargest in private life was a leading member of the National Party in the New Zealand House of Representatives while Brig. Miles, a member of the permanent forces, went overseas in 1939 as commander of divisional artillery headquarters.

Opinions Differ Widely On Jap Air Force Strength

By DEVON FRANCIS

NEW YORK (AP)—Tension in the Pacific has led to a revival of occasional warnings by commentators acquainted with the Far East that it would be a mistake to underestimate Japanese air power.

Coupled with such statements, however, are the more familiar appraisals of Japanese aviation, less complimentary and more sanguine of the outcome if the island empire comes to grips with another major power.

Singularly enough, in all that has been written of Japanese air power in the last four years, few have taken a middle course. It has been said either that the Japanese have superlative aircraft and good pilots, or they have obsolescent planes and poor pilots.

KEEP VISITORS AWAY

Much of the mystery thrown about the Japanese in the air stems from the secrecy with which the army and navy have pursued their developments. The Occidental soul, if ever, is permitted to glimpse, let alone examine, Japanese-made planes.

At the start of the "China Incident" Japanese bombers had notoriously poor aim, but that was four years ago and Japan's critics concede the air force has shown vast improvement.

As for planes, Mark Ginsburg, Far Eastern correspondent of the Washington Post, and a British army officer, H. S. Mazet, wrote in February, 1940, that the Japanese had a twin engined pursuit mounting from six to eight guns and capable of 350 miles an hour.

Better Food at Camps in Germany

More Recreation Needed By Canadian Prisoners

By JACK WILLIAMS

OTTAWA (CP)—The food which Canadians in German prison camps are able to get isn't bad, but there isn't much fun. That is the story reaching officials in charge of prisoners of war information here.

Nine hundred and thirty-two Canadians now are held in Germany in widely-scattered camps and detailed reports on camp conditions reach Dominion authorities regularly from the United States embassy in Berlin.

PLAINLY

Officials say prisoners of some nationalities have been hesitant to voice complaints. But not Canadians and members of other British Commonwealth forces. They have let it be known when camp conditions were not up to standards required by the international agreement of the Geneva Convention.

The fact comparatively few complaints have been received about food is attributed to the thousands of parcels the Canadian Red Cross ships from Canada every week to the prison camps in Germany.

Prison camps for officers are designated oflags, men of ranks are interned in stalags, naval and merchant marine men in marlags and hospital units are termed lazarets.

Support the statement of officials that conditions have greatly improved in the German prison camps in recent months. The men have a cleaner appearance and appear in much better spirits.

Lack of recreational facilities is the most common complaint. At some camps the prisoners have constructed their own sport fields, but in others there is little accommodation for organized exercise or walks.

Some have showers

Conditions in the camps vary widely. In some hot and cold showers are available at any time; at others the men are restricted to a bath a week. Soap is available at most of the canteens, but restricted to about two bottles a week per man.

Canadian government officials have been successful in having men of the merchant marine accorded the same privileges as men of the three armed forces.

Originally German officials provided them with food similar to that available for civilians in the areas where the camp is located.

Now these men are being given food of the same quality and amount as the men guarding them and are in receipt of regular pay.

Quarantine for Germany

TORONTO (CP)—Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister for the Free Czechoslovakian government in London, said in an address to the Empire Club here that Germany should be placed in quarantine, like a diseased animal after the war.

"Don't let's get sentimental about the Germans the day after peace is declared and say they are nice people and we'll play cricket with them," he said. "Unless the English-speaking world assumes the postwar leadership we cannot live in the peace."

Roll of Honor

LONDON (CP)—Names of civilians killed by enemy action are being recorded by the Imperial War Graves Commission. Twenty thousand names have been placed on this civilian roll of honor and another 20,000 are ready for recording, it was stated today.

The 1,100 violins originally constructed by Stradivari, only about 500 are still in existence.

Steel Workers Want Conference

OTTAWA (CP)—C. W. Millard, executive secretary of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, said in a statement today his organization hopes that steel producers and the government will take part in a conference as soon as possible to discuss "ways and means of ensuring maximum and efficient production of basic steel."

The statement was issued as delegates representing S.W.O.C. locals in Sydney, N.S., Trenton, N.S., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Hamilton began the second day of a conference on conditions of workers in the steel industry and the Kirkland Lake gold mine situation.

Last Nov. 17, the statement said, Mr. Millard invited the basic steel producers, Labor Minister McLarty and Steel Controller F. Kilbourn to a conference aimed at safeguarding the war effort against any possible shortage of steel.

The steel producers "did not even bother to reply to this invitation." The labor department referred the matter to the chairman of the War Labor Board and he did not reply either. The steel controller informed the union he would be out of town.

STRONGLY PROTEST

"This (present) conference of employees in the basic steel plants records its vigorous resentment of this contemptuous treatment of labor by the Canadian government and employers," Mr. Millard's statement said. "This is yet another example of their determination to oppose every attempt of labor to make its democratic contribution to the great struggle against Hitler."

Wages and conditions of labor in basic steel plants were "intolerable," the statement said.

"Basic wages are everywhere too low and in every case much lower than the 50 cent an hour which the Minister of Labor declared to be the absolute minimum required to provide the necessities of life."

Lease-Lend for Turkey

LIKE A BOLT OUT OF THE BLUE YESTERDAY afternoon, President Roosevelt announced that the benefits of the Lease-Lend Act would now be extended to Turkey; and although he confined his statement to a single sentence declaring he had found "the defence of Turkey vital to the defence of the United States," its significance obviously is more striking for what it leaves to the imagination than for the policy it so unequivocally lays down. By so advising the Ankara government—and, incidentally, the world in general—our neighbor has added a seventh to the nations already receiving material assistance under the provisions of the Act of Congress of last March.

So far as the public has learned, the attitude of Turkey toward the conflict, now raging in Russia, in the Mediterranean and in North Africa is still one of carefully-defined neutrality, or, at least, a sufficiently neutral conduct to avoid giving the Axis powers the slightest pretence for taking Turkish territory into "protective custody"—a technique which Germany perfected long ago both in respect of persons and nations. After each act of aggression, it will be recalled, Nazi propagandists have invariably discovered "documents" purporting to prove conclusively that Britain already had laid her plans for invasion. Subsequent events in every case, of course, have merely added to the stupidity of the original charge. Heaven knows, moreover, that the position with which the men of Ankara have been confronted ever since Greece and Yugoslavia were compelled to bow to the overwhelming force the Axis pitted against them has demanded meticulous observance of strict impartiality. At some later date, perhaps, the world will realize to what extent the policy has benefited the Allied cause.

How Turkey's conduct to date has impressed Mr. Roosevelt would seem to be shown by yesterday's decision to assist the Ankara government to prepare further to defend herself in the face of the potential menace still hanging over the young and progressive Levantine Republic. What designs the Axis game is on Turkey? Whether the serious reverses German forces have sustained in southern Russia have changed such plans as might have been evolved, only future developments will reveal. But the President's order for Lease-Lend material to be made available to the Ankara government suggests, on the face of it, that Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden's oft-reiterated belief in Turkey's intention to live up to her original pact with Britain has been based on knowledge which good judgment has not permitted to be publicized.

The Canadian Club

ONE OF THE MOST THOUGHTFUL and compelling addresses to which a comparative handful of members of the Men's Canadian Club has listened for many a moon was that delivered at last Monday's luncheon by Mr. C. W. Jenks, legal adviser to the International Labor Office, who spoke on "The Challenge of the Atlantic Charter." It was a candid verbal picture of what conditions throughout the world may be like after the "final destruction of the Nazi tyranny." The speaker drew upon a vast fund of knowledge gleaned from his close association with a body of organized thought with which all Canadians should be familiarizing themselves in preparation for the full impact of the war's aftermath and the effect it is bound to have on our lives and habits.

Reduced to a few words, Mr. Jenks summarized his plea for more practical interest in and a much greater appreciation of the realities and implications of the titanic struggle now raging when he said: "Now is the time to institute the advanced planning which is required if we are to avoid bungling the first stages of the peace in the same manner in which we bungled the first days of the war." It will not do to shrug the shoulder and behave as if the average citizen has neither the right nor the capacity to try to anticipate the unpredictable condition which will confront the world when the last shot has been fired and the last bomber is grounded. On the contrary, unless the men and women of Canada make up their minds to exercise their intellect and imagination, unless they bring themselves to a realization that the peace will produce confusion worse confounded if they do not prepare for its problems, they will be guilty of a type of complacency in which the seeds of unrest and revolt all-to-readily germinate.

The Canadian Club of this capital city of British Columbia surely could adapt itself to an agency for the more fruitful dissemination of the gospel which Mr. Jenks so eloquently preached on Monday. Its membership should furnish the nucleus of an intelligent study group; it might well arrange evening meetings at which a competent speaker could open an informal discussion. In the meantime, however, it is to be hoped that an able president, such as Mr. Gowan is proving himself to be, will not again be obliged to apologize for such a small attendance as that to which last Monday's eminent speaker was compelled to address himself.

Words Useless Now

WHILE THE JAPANESE PRESS continues to coin acid phrases to try to convince the world that the United States, aided and abetted by the British Empire and the Netherlands East Indies, has a definite program for the establishment of a complete hegemony in East Asia, the State Department at Washington is reported to have informed Ambassador Nomura and special envoy Saburo Kurusu that further negotiations will not proceed until the government at Tokyo has explained why additional troops have been sent into Indo-China. To a great extent of this announcement appears to be a declaration on the part of our neighbor that the time is fast approaching when action must take the place of words.

One result of this stiffening of Washington's attitude is reflected in today's two-and-a-half-hour session of the Japanese Privy Council, to which Premier Hideki Tojo and Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo reported the progress of events in detail. And the official Domei news agency's account of the deliberations intimated that "active opinions were exchanged." To another meeting in Tokyo the Foreign Minister reiterated the outward clique that the United States, Britain and their associates still persist in refusing to "understand Japan's program for East Asia," naively implying that this extraordinary behavior had carried Japan to an unprecedented crisis. The general view of the Japanese press, therefore, is summed up by Domei as one of "shocked surprise and extreme pessimism."

But no pessimism was detected in a speech from Finance Minister Okinobu Kaya. He came out flat-footed today with the statement that United States-British economic measures against Japan and the (puppet) Manchukuo and Nanking governments, "instead of discouraging the powers concerned, have served to spur them on to establish a solid economic front in East Asia." This is presumably another way of describing Japan's insistence that she be allowed to establish what she calls her "co-prosperity sphere" by such means as she may determine. But this is precisely the Japanese program that the United States, Britain and their associates do understand—and understand perfectly. What is equally true, of course, is that Premier Tojo and his associates know that the ABCD combination requires no tutelage from Tokyo on this central point. There is the rub; and the next move still lies with Japan.

Hopes in Libya

AS WE WAIT FOR THE RESUMPTION of the battle of the Libyan desert, which we were warned in advance would be a tough one, it is interesting to note part of an encouraging report of conditions given by a "high officer in the field" to Mr. Edward Kennedy, Associated Press staff writer. Here it is:

"Rommel (the German General) knows he is only a sideshow. He knows his force is now so reduced that he no longer is a threat to Egypt. He knows the fleet is sinking his supplies. He knows the R.A.F. is destroying his petrol dumps. He knows it is only a question of time for him to withdraw and fight. His hope is to reduce our strength. He is a resourceful commander and has good men at his disposal. We will knock him out entirely, but it will take some time yet."

It was said when the advance began that the "hunt is on" and this time it will be "a kill in the open." This forecast of the great battle would seem to find point in the remarks of the "high officer" with whom Mr. Kennedy talked. It is for us to have patience.

DEFENCE ROADS

From Winnipeg Tribune
The financial burden of maintaining roads leading to air schools, military camps and defense industries weighs heavily on the limited resources of Manitoba municipalities. Traffic is usually exceptionally heavy on such roads, and the amount of maintenance required is quite beyond anything the municipalities are accustomed to.

The delegates to the convention of the Union of Manitoba Municipalities have requested the federal and provincial governments to share in this cost. They have a good case. The province and the Dominion get whatever additional revenues arise from the new traffic these roads create. It is only fair that they should help to keep these roads in good condition.

The position of the municipalities is improving. Reports of the delegates and the outlines given by the provincial ministers have shown this. But there are still many problems confronting local administrators. The convention has been an excellent forum for the discussion of these matters and the recommendations which have been framed as a result of these discussions will be of service to the whole province.

Moscow's Fate In Balance

By MAJOR GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT

The basis of Russian tactics in this war appears to be the application of the principle that counter-attacks is the heart and soul of successful defence. The present situation around Moscow well illustrates their use of this maxim of war.

Unwilling to accept stalemate, the Germans have taken advantage of a break in the weather to launch another great assault upon the Russian capital. Their necessities must have been very pressing to induce them to risk the certain sacrifices of men and material upon the chance of a success sufficiently great to justify those losses. The German high command, of course, thinks always in terms of the "big picture." They are probably anticipating defeat in Africa, at a moment when they are desperately trying to whip the Vichy government into line with the "new order" in Europe, and when in Asia the affairs of Japan are approaching a crisis.

OFFSET BRITISH VICTORY

A great victory for the British in the Libyan desert would ring around the world, with repercussions everywhere injurious to the German cause, unless it could be offset by the capture of Moscow. Nothing less, no advance in southern Russia, for example, would serve the purpose of the German political machine. Hence German soldiers by the thousands have had to die beneath the heat of Russian fire along the western defences of the Soviet capital.

The freezing of the ground has enabled the German mechanization to move faster and farther than during the mud-and-slush period of a few weeks ago. The Germans, therefore tried for the ambitious goal of a double encirclement, north and south, according to their time-honored tactical ideas. In both cases they gained ground—to Klim and to Stalingrad. The holding attack in the centre, meanwhile, doubtless served the purpose of all holding attacks in "fixing" the Russian troops in its immediate front. But it did not "fix" the Russian reserves, some of which have now been put in to counter-attack in both areas. In both the result appears to have been the same, the advance German armored elements have been cut off from their infantry support and now face not only the problem of regaining touch with their supplies, which has brought disaster to so many German armored spearheads in the course of the Russian war, but also, the danger of prolonged exposure to the growing cold of a December winter.

The immediate issue turns, therefore, on whether the Germans now dispose of sufficient reserves to rescue their forward elements and to continue to gain ground by breaking down the inner shoulders of the salients they have formed, and thus forcing the Russian centre back toward Moscow. Should they do this, a renewal of the encircling movement might follow, in the hope of cutting more of the lines of supply of the Russian capital.

Much therefore depends on the fighting strength of the reserve forces still available to the respective armies on the Moscow front. The Russians are undoubtedly superior in manpower, but it is doubtful whether they are superior in guns and armored fighting vehicles. A good deal may depend on the available airpower, in which advantage may rest with the Russians because the Luftwaffe is embarrassed by renewed British attacks in the west and by the calls for reinforcements for Africa.

NAZI REVERSES

Meanwhile, in the south, the army group of Marshal Timoshenko seems for the moment at any rate, to have passed definitely to the offensive and to be driving back the Germans on a wide front with the possibility of pinning a good many German advance elements back against the shore of the Sea of Azov unless the Germans can extricate themselves in time. This is probably the explanation of the admitted German evacuation of Rostov. A glance at the map will show, however, that Timoshenko's advance to the southwest, directed upon Mariupol, threatens to cut off the German forces in Rostov as it approaches Mariupol, thus necessitating a quick retirement at least by the most forward elements of the German forces to avoid capture.

The German difficulties and troubles in Russia are, of course, very largely due to extended communications, dwindling air support and the check on the extent and duration of every effort imposed by the bitter cold which limits the permissible time of exposure of personnel. The Russians, better acclimatized, do not suffer so much from this latter limitation, their supply lines grow shorter as the Germans' grow longer. Both these factors tend to reduce the advantages derived from the peculiar characteristics of armored troops. Russian superiority in manpower increases in proportionate importance.

SEEK DECISION

We ought not, however, to assume that these Russian advantages will necessarily prove decisive. While indications still point to stalemate for the winter on the long front from the Arctic to the Black Sea, the Germans have not as yet given up; they are still seeking a decision; they may make further gains; they may even take Moscow. It seems improbable, but probabilities have been upset by desperate fighting in many wars before this one, and may be so upset again. The commentator can do no more than to draw upon such knowledge and

PRODUCTION

From Manchester Guardian

The government's comments on the production report of the Select Committee on National Expenditure are notable for its approval of the capacity clearing centres set up by some regional production boards and for its statement that "steps are being taken with a view to the extension of the system." Some regions, notably the northwestern, have not yet taken up the idea. It now has official approval, and the supply departments are committed to assist in every means of harnessing the small firms and of preventing potential capacity from going to waste. The Ministry of Aircraft Production refers specifically to its policy of decentralization of the department's functions in the production field, but the Ministry of Supply and the Admiralty do not go quite so far as yet. Decentralization is, of course, the logical complement of regional boards. Much of their value is wasted if they remain purely advisory.

NO OTHER WAY

From Edmonton Journal

Mr. Aberhart's constant talk about the possible adoption of "some other method" of financing the war than through taxation and borrowing is not calculated to make people pay their taxes willingly or to induce them to lend to the government as much of their savings as they can spare. A few weeks ago at a Social Credit meeting in this city the Premier told of how huge were the debts being incurred in Canada, the United States and Britain and asked: "Doesn't anyone see that the system will have to be changed?" But, unless there is to be deliberate monetary inflation with all the disastrous results which it would have inevitably, no other methods of financing the war than those being adopted are open to a country.

CANADA IN REVIEW

Canada Year Book for 1941, available now to the public, is published under authorization of Hon. James A. MacKinnon, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and bears in every department the marks of careful official preparation. It may be regarded as a comprehensive presentation of the social and economic condition of the Dominion.

The review is up to date, has eight special articles on the effects of war on the Canadian economy indicate the changes that have taken place to cover everything from the National Registration to a special war chronology, which appears as an appendix to the volume.

The reliability of this Year Book is well established. There is no thought of profit in its publication; the price, $1.50 per copy, covers merely the cost of production. Teachers and clergymen may secure a limited number of paperbound copies at 50 cents each, and these may be ordered from the Dominion Statistician, Ottawa. So long as the supply lasts, well-bound copies may be obtained by the public from the King's Printer, Ottawa.

Eight million people were killed in the four years of the first Great War, but three influenza epidemics which lasted six months, were as many as 21,000,000 lives.

experience as he possesses, to judge the existing situation.

Experience does suggest to one's mind, in the case of Moscow particularly, a certain familiarity of pattern—which on analysis turns out to be a strong resemblance to conditions on the western front in the last war; where again and again great attacks once brought to a standstill were renewed with fresh reserves, only to cause further slaughter for the gaining of minor objectives not worth the price; these in turn to be lost to counter-attack when the advancing infantry had outrun its artillery support; thus producing a fluctuating tide of battle swaying back and forth over a few hundred yards of blood-soaked trenches until sheer exhaustion brought the fighting to a temporary pause.

The Moscow fight appears very much to follow this orthodox and familiar pattern—of which perhaps the Battle of the Somme from July to December, 1916, just a quarter of a century ago, was the most sanguinary example. If the Germans cannot bring to bear sufficient of the new tactical elements of modern war—planes and tanks—to swing the balance of victory in their favor, it may well be that the history of the great Somme battle will be repeated before Moscow. We should be able to form a more accurate judgment very soon.

Work Together, MacBride Urges

A policy of close co-operation with the provincial and federal governments in forwarding the war effort and co-operation with adjoining municipalities in moves for the betterment of Greater Victoria was advocated by Duncan MacBride in a majority campaign address at Sir James Douglas School Wednesday night.

Mr. MacBride was introduced by Reginald Hayward, former mayor of the city, who said he considered Mr. MacBride an excellent potential mayor prepared to carry out the policies enunciated by the late Mayor David Leeming.

Mr. MacBride rapped the apathy of Victoria electors, who, by their absence, displayed a lack of interest in public affairs. He declared their disinterest the chief cause of the present war. The same spirit, he said, was responsible for Canada's inadequate war effort.

"The Victoria Dental Society," said Dr. Poynz, "wishes to congratulate the school board on its decision to hold a Children's Dental Health Week."

"Good health is the greatest asset of an individual, and dental health contributes in a large measure to maintaining a sound body, for dental caries is the most constant and general disease of mankind and its effects may spread eventually to any part of the body."

"Prevention is today the key-note of all branches of health service, yet much more might be accomplished to prevent the ravages of dental decay and its subsequent disorders."

"This will be brought about largely by creating a better dental health consciousness by parents and children through education on the importance of caring for the teeth of pre-school and school-age children and knowledge of how to prevent or reduce dental disease."

"Children's Dental Health Week is an annual event in many cities today, and has contributed much in raising the standard of health of the children in these communities."

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS UNITE

As a result of the supper rally sponsored by the Diocesan Board of Religious Education and attended by 130 in the Memorial Hall on Tuesday evening, a Victoria Sunday School Teachers' Association was formed.

Officers elected were: Honorary president, Bishop Sexton; president, Rev. J. Blewett; vice-president, Stanley Hawkins; secretary, W. Moore; treasurer, F. Warren.

An interesting feature of the evening was the exhibit of Sunday school teachers' and pupils' materials, in connection with which a talk was given by Miss B. M. Carlisle.

The meeting adopted the resolution approved of earlier in the week by the Victoria Ministerial Association, viz., "that provision should be made in the School Act for time during school hours for the giving of Christian instruction to all children by recognized teachers, either on the school premises or elsewhere, subject to the right of a parent or guardian to withdraw his or her child from such instruction."

Votes of thanks to Bishop Sexton and to Miss Carlisle were proposed by the Rev. P. Disney and W. N. Turner.

Mocha Bread Pudding (Serves 8):

1 pint milk, 1/4 cup granulated sugar, 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, 1/4 cup raisins, 16 slices white bread, 1/4 cup Fry's Cacao.

Cut white bread in half-inch slices. Remove the crust and butter well. Cut in fours to make squares. Arrange these neatly so as to form a shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with raisins. Pour over milk and custard and sprinkle with cinnamon. Mix cacao and sugar together dry and add mixture to hot milk. Beat eggs and add slowly to the cacao milk. Strain through a fine sieve, pour over bread, add the vanilla. Place in oven 400 degrees until the custard is set.

If you enclose 10c you will receive the latest Fry's Illustrated Recipe Booklet, "Chocolate Around the Clock." It's packed with scores of easy to follow recipes for making new, delicious, chocolate-flavored deserts and beverages. Address: Jehanne Patenaude, Fry-Cadbury Ltd., Montreal.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TURTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of making the condition worse. There are many itchy, burning or painful passage of stool is nature's warning of proper treatment should be sought at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Bold from modern Pharmacy and Drug Stores. It is a drug and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve rectal soreness and aid in healing the sore tissue. Hem-Bold is pleasant to taste and is easily swallowed.

The height of folly for any one to risk a rectal and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy can be had at such a small cost.

bonus without undue hardship to the taxpayers.

On the conscription issue, he reiterated his stand in favor of such action subject to approval of and leadership by the federal government in a total war effort. Charles G. Heisterman, aldermanic aspirant, also spoke, advocating an aggressive lands sales policy, following Alderman R. A. C. Dewar's lead, and urged a low taxation move to permit home-owners to devote their earnings and savings to the purchase of Victory bonds and war certificates to assist Canada's war effort.

CARE OF TEETH BIG HEALTH AID

The Victoria Dental Society, through its president, Dr. Arthur Poynz, today issued a press release to professional men and groups, including Dr. C. W. Sanders, school health inspector, in lauding the value of preventive dentistry in city schools and commanding the city board on the emphasis it is giving the matter in the current dental week.

"The Victoria Dental Society," said Dr. Poynz, "wishes to congratulate the school board on its decision to hold a Children's Dental Health Week."

"Good health is the greatest asset of an individual, and dental health contributes in a large measure to maintaining a sound body, for dental caries is the most constant and general disease of mankind and its effects may spread eventually to any part of the body."

"Prevention is today the key-note of all branches of health service, yet much more might be accomplished to prevent the ravages of dental decay and its subsequent disorders."

"This will be brought about largely by creating a better dental health consciousness by parents and children through education on the importance of caring for the teeth of pre-school and school-age children and knowledge of how to prevent or reduce dental disease."

"Children's Dental Health Week is an annual event in many cities today, and has contributed much in raising the standard of health of the children in these communities."

POST-WAR PROBLEMS

Mr. MacBride pledged himself to a post-war planning policy, with the organization of a committee to work aggressively for the solution of post-war problems. In that field, he said, the city should get behind its federal government in the reduction of some of the burden he was carrying.

He believed, Mr. MacBride said, civic employees would secure a

Jubilee Juniors' Bazaar Well Attended; Nets $1,150

Long before the official opening day, crowds jammed the Jubilee Hospital Nurses' Home, money in one-hand, eager fingers of the other reaching for a daintily dressed doll, chintz bunny or linen knitting bag, waiting for the arrival of Mrs. W. C. Woodward to spell "Go" to a flurry of sales that within an hour virtually swept the counters clean at the fifth annual Doll and Gift Bazaar sponsored by the hospital's Junior Women's Auxiliary.

Milling excitedly around the gaily-decorated booths, were over 500 wide-eyed children, mothers, aunts, big sisters and even grandmothers. Exclaiming with delight over the colorful and original display of articles, their purchases rang up approximately $1,150 for the auxiliary, to be used in supplying equipment for the hospital.

Mrs. Woodward, accompanied by Miss Ruth MacLean, was welcomed by Mrs. W. B. Wilson, president of the auxiliary; Mrs. Trevor Roberts, convener of the bazaar, and Miss Mitchell, superintendent of nurses. Little Gwynn Roberts, in dainty white frock, then presented her with a corsage of red roses.

"There are few left in the world who can consider the young people," said Mrs. Woodward, in opening the fete, and commended "the auxiliary for their example of good citizenship."

"They have wardrobes complete enough for a trip to Europe," Mrs. Woodward exclaimed on viewing the dolls. And indeed they had. Exquisite organdy frocks, gay gingham play suits, beautifully knitted sweaters, coats a doll's wardrobe could hold, were attractively arranged on tiny hangers in gaily-painted racks. In addition were hats of perky bonnets, stuffed animals, and of course, the dolls. Hundreds of cuddly baby dolls, little Pouring tea were Mesdames W. E. Mitchell, T. M. Jones, F. A. Lindsay and H. Shandley, Mrs. R. Horton and Mrs. George Hall having charge of the refreshments. Others assisting on the committee were: Dols, Mrs. Norman Cook, Mrs. M. Morten; dolls' clothes, Mrs. G. H. Simons; knitting, Mrs. W. Parker; gifts, Mrs. B. S. Darling; plants, Mrs. Gordon Cameron; children's novelties, Mrs. R. A. Wootton, and Christmas tree, Miss Mary Campbell.

Colonel and Mrs. McGregor Macintosh of Ganges are visitors in Victoria, having come to attend today the opening of the House.

Mr. Grindley, Saul of Decker Lake, who has been spending the last two weeks in Victoria with his mother, Mrs. F. Saul, having charge of the home.

Miss Nadine Finlay arrived this morning from Toronto and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lawson, Foul Bay Road, until her marriage Saturday morning to Mr. Donald Lawson at St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church.

Miss Elizabeth Woodward entertained at dinner Saturday night in Vancouver before the Junior League cabaret, the party including Misses Diana Spencer, Betty Brown, Flying Officer Armstrong, Pilot Officer Mills, and Mr. Charles Woodward.

Lord Sefton, who will be 44 Dec. 22, is a bachelor, a captain in the Royal Horse Guards reserve, and a former lord-in-waiting to the King. His lands total about 3,200 acres, including Aintree race course.

His prospective bride was divorced in Paris Aug. 25, 1932, after three years of marriage.

Mrs. M. Charrington will hold a reception in honor of Miss Frances Dutton and Mr. Carl Horthy, Friday evening, at her new apartment, Bickerton Court, 248 Douglas Street, following their concert that night at the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. Phillip and a capable committee had charge of the tea, assistants being Mesdames H. Anson, F. H. Swaine, Scott Ritchie, T. P. Waters, Colclough, French, Cooper, Summerfield and Wehen, and Misses M. Church, J. Hayward, Daphne Nunn, Devereux, E. Kaltenbach, G. Arnott, E. Philpott and D. Mangin.

Mrs. Bunbury was responsible for the beautifully decorated Christmas tree and the pile of gaily-wrapped gifts which were subsequently distributed to the children by Miss Betty Eagles.

The bride was unattended at the church where she wore a simple wool ensemble of trophie twill blue, the silhouette featuring front fullness. Her hair was fitted to her head, of the same material as the dress, bursting into strawberry ice cream suede flowers the exact shade of her handmade gloves. She wore a corsage of mums in the pink. Mr. Gordon Root was groom.

Following the reception in the York Room of Hotel Georgia, the bride changed to a tailored suit of brown handwoven shetland tweed for traveling. Her sweater and turban picked out a robin's egg fleck in the tweed and her accessories were brown lizard.

Y.P.U. Penny Fair Proves Successful

The Metropolitan Y.P.U. held their third annual penny fair Tuesday night, realizing about $33. Games and stalls provided entertainment. During the evening Bob Henson sang several solos. Those in charge of the stalls were: Candy, Mrs. E. T. D. Francis of Crawford Bay, now of New York City, where Mr. Francis is a member of the British Purchasing Commission. The couple left Wednesday night for Montreal where the groom is a staff writer for the British United Press.

Social Credit W.A.
Hear Aberhart

CAGARY (CP)—Premier William Aberhart said in an address at the closing session of the Social Credit Women's Auxiliaries: "They declared our debt adjustment act ultra vires, but don't think we are quitting." (The Supreme Court of Canada, Tues day ruled on the act.)

Appealing to the women who had accomplished so much down through history in their fight for the franchise and recognition, Mr. Aberhart said, "We ought to realize every last one of us, there is need for the people of this province to keep on going . . ."

The convention passed a resolution asking the Alberta government to make representations to the Dominion government for an increase in the old age pension to $30 a month, the cost to be shared between the Dominion, province and municipalities on the same basis as at present. It also asked the pensionable age be lowered to 60.

CONSCRIPTION
IF NECESSARY

Other resolutions:

Urged mobilization of industry, natural resources, and finance for the war effort, followed if necessary by conscription of manpower.

"Emphatically endorsed the protest of the government of the province and pledged support to any steps the government may deem necessary for the protection of provincial rights." A preamble to this resolution said Alberta is "practically being forced to suspend the imposition and collection of various forms of taxation for the duration of the war."

Anglican girls' council met Wednesday with the president, Doris Lancaster, in the chair. The treasurer, Miss Elsie Watson, reported that the proceeds of the concert amounted to about $15. Mrs. Goodwin stressed an appeal for assistance that had been made at the Dominion conference by the Athabasca Girls' Hostel, suggesting the branches make an offering. Next council meeting will be held Dec. 17 at 7.30.

Dr. Henrietta Anderson of the Normal School addressed the monthly meeting of the James Bay P.T.A. Association held in School Park School Wednesday evening. She revealed that it had been proved about 50 per cent of the manhood of the United States was unfit for military service, and she believed that the percentage was still higher in this country.

Dr. Anderson then expounded her theories for postwar reconstruction work, stressing particularly the mental and physical health of the school child and the adult. Trustee E. G. Mulliner moved the vote of thanks to Dr. Anderson.

Clothing War Women

No Easy Task

By PATRICIA CONNOLLEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Venus de Milo

was a specimen of feminine form as all right in her day but it's questionable whether her counterpart—with arms of course—would be much of a standout in the Canadian Women's Army

Corps.

The fact is that in the C.W.A.C., once minimum height and weight and health qualifications have been met, there is no size regulation of the Canadian girl. Ability counts, curves or no curves.

The 800 recruits already outfitted are proof of this. Minimum height is five feet but some of the recruits are six-footers. Weight must be in conformity with recognized health charts for height and age.

MANY ALTERATIONS

"We have 19 different sizes in tunics and skirts for the girls but 15 per cent of them need to be altered in some way so it is obvious there is no regulation of size," said Capt. B. A. Snow, officer in charge of the Canadian Women's Army Corps Ordnance Depot.

"Sometimes the sleeves are too long, the tunic too wide, the shoulders too narrow, the skirt too long, too short, too wide or too narrow."

Uniforms for the C.W.A.C. are all supplied from the central ordnance depot in the basement of the new Supreme Court building here.

Fifteen standard sizes of shoes in four different widths are available. Most of them take size 6, 6½ or 7 but—and say it quietly—size 9 shoes have been issued.

Ninety per cent of the children of midgets are females.

Dominion May Have To Conscription Farm Labor

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

MONTREAL—Anyone familiar with the Quebec scene of a generation ago need spend but a few days in this ancient outpost of French culture to realize that a near-revolution is in progress. Quebec has gone industrial with a bang. The consequences of this industrialization are apparent in many directions. There is a breaking down as well as a building up process in action.

Most significant phase of the building up is the increasing importance of French enterprise. The Simard armament plant at Sorel is the most notable example.

WITH THE FORCES

Put Air Crews On Same Level

This is not only one of the most efficient gun-producing plants in the allied world, it is the outstanding example of an enterprise staffed almost entirely by French-Canadians. As big business in this province has hitherto been almost entirely in the hands of the "English" this spirit of purely French-Canadian enterprise may go far to break down the half-conscious French-Canadian impression that "the trusts" were somehow linked with the other race.

Richard Capell in a dispatch from Cairo to the Cape Times says:

"Officers' messes of the R.A.F. fighter squadrons have been replaced by pilots' messes. That is to say, sergeant pilots, instead of being separated from their commissioned colleagues after operations, now are living with them."

The effect of the new order is virtually to restore the system prevailing during Royal Flying Corps days, when all pilots and officers messes together, as they are today in the South African Air Force.

10 Fighters
In One Family

The fighting Keens family—10 sons of Mr. and Mrs. David Keens, all in uniform as members of Britain's armed forces, set a record hard to beat.

David, the eldest, aged 33, is in a prison camp. He was captured at St. Valery when a Highland division was cut off there during the Battle of France. Albert, aged 26, who was with him, escaped with serious shrapnel wounds. He slid down a cliff edge on a rope and was safely evacuated.

Three sons are in the navy. Lewis, 24, has served in the battleship Nelson since the war began. Henry, 21, is somewhere out east. William, 31, was wounded when the cruiser Belvoir was torpedoed.

Thirty-year-old Richard, in the Hampshire regiment, came home from France just before Dunkirk. Charlie, 29, also in the army, has been out of England since he got his commission.

What ran through my mind as I learned these things, was that we may be forced to adopt a conscription law in this country even more to provide labor for the farms than for the fighting services. The production of food is the most elementary necessity in war even more than in peace.

Anyway farmers today are working under an increasing load of burdens which have been largely ignored.

STORY OF LUCY

When this war started a young lady in her 20's was working in a factory as a stenographer. She was getting about $12 a week. Somebody got her interested in taking a welder's course when the aircraft industry first began to get going. Lucy now works at the job eight hours a day, for which she gets regular pay. She also works overtime three nights a week for which she draws time and a half and every other Sunday for which she gets double time.

My rough calculation was that she is drawing down about $35 a week. Another guess is that neither she nor anybody else can physically keep up the pace they are now setting.

Incidentally Lucy has applied to join the women's army which raises more interesting questions: Are workers who are in key jobs in the most vital industries going to be free to walk off such jobs whenever they feel like it? Certainly it is silly to accept such a girl for the army when she is doing work which requires long months of training, and which is of vital importance.

All of which is additional proof that what Canada needs, even more than a conservation law, is a sort of master war plan which would clearly lay down just what are our objectives in this war—in the way of allotting men and women to farm, factory and armed services. For the same need for sensible allotment will arise whether we use the voluntary or compulsory principle.

CHURCH AND WAR

One of the most fair-minded observers I know, who is a native of Quebec, and who speaks both languages with equal ease summed up the whole war attitude of Quebec as follows:

"The higher-ups of the hierarchy are going as far as they possibly can go in support of Canada's participation in this war. One reason for this is that they realize the vital stake that the Roman Catholic Church has in the overthrow of Hitler. But the parish priest-in-the-back-country has shown little if any enthusiasm for the war. If these parish priests were supporting the British cause in this war as fervently as they were supporting France in the Spanish civil war there would be a very different story to tell from this province."

I cannot say whether or not this attitude is fair. But I did hear that the French-Canadian servant girls who got up before daylight, and who went to one R.C. church here, heard the priest tell them in all earnestness that the war was in an extremely grave stage, that they should pray for divine help and do everything possible to aid in victory.

At a later date I hope to write more about some of the fallacies of Quebec's war effort. Government propagandists last year ridiculously overestimated it. The figures for instance about voluntary enlistments were downright deceptions. But there are more bases of comparison than one. And one fact is that Quebec's war effort in both men and munitions is already more than double what it was in the whole last war.

land. His parents see a lot of Walter, 18, is in a naval training depot waiting to begin a gunnery course.

George, 28, came home on leave recently after serving six years in Egypt with the British army; 20-year-old Stan is in the R.A.F., and the youngest son, Walter, 18, is in a naval training depot waiting to begin a gunnery course.

Their father? He's doing his bit too. A veteran of the first Great War he's now head warden on an army range.

Would Be Army Barber

RAYMORE, Sask. (CP)—Andrew Schindelka, a barber for 50 years, turned over his affairs to his family a year ago in the hope of enlisting in the Canadian army, but he was refused because of his age. He says he wants to go into action in this war and is willing to become a barber at any encampment as "I have many a month of good work left in my system."

Madcap Nephew of Mrs. Churchill Is Missing

OTTAWA (CP)—Pilot Officer Edmund Romilly, 22, nephew of Mrs. Winston Churchill, is listed by the R.C.A.F. as missing after overseas air operations.

His wife, Jessica, sister of Unity Freeman-Mitford, is living at Alexandria, Va.

The romance of Edmund and Jessica has been a headline affair from the start.

In the spring of 1937 Jessica's father, Lord Redesdale, got British diplomatic authorities to search for the young couple, saying he suspected they had eloped to Spain, although they had met only three days earlier.

EDMUND was reported to have enlisted as a volunteer for republican Spain in the civil war then in progress, but when located in Bilbao he and Jessica said they had been merely correspondents for English papers.

In any event, the British destroyer Echo took them to Bayonne, France, where they were married in the British consulate.

In 1939 they showed up in New York, settling down in Greenwich Village. Jessica got a job in a Fifth Avenue dress shop.

In 1940 they went to Miami, Fla., where they got jobs in a bar and restaurant.

Since then they had dropped out of sight, and the circumstances of Edmund's enlistment in the R.C.A.F. were not disclosed.

Lend-Lease to Turkey Runs to $100,000,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States began furnishing Turkey with military supplies six months ago so the Turks could stand by their pledge to Britain to defend Turkey and the strategic Dardanelles against the threat of Axis aggression.

The Turko-British pact, it was learned authoritatively today, accounts to a great extent for President Roosevelt's formal decision adding Turkey to the list of nations eligible for lend-lease aid.

The White House statement issued Wednesday, however, said merely: "The President announced that he had found the defense of Turkey vital to the defense of the United States and had directed Lend-Lease Administrator E. R. Stettinius Jr. to see that the defense needs of the government of Turkey were filled as soon as possible."

Under present plans, it was disclosed, future lease-lease aid to Turkey is expected to include some $100,000,000 worth of planes, tanks, trucks, anti-tank and anti-aircraft guns, ammunition and other supplies urgently required by the Turkish army.

FIRST TO BRITAIN

All supply shipments since last May have been made to Great Britain, which in turn delivered them to Turkey, and it was learned this procedure would prevail on all future shipments.

By this arrangement, it was explained, Britain will be enabled to fulfill her treaty promises of military supplies in return for Turkey's pledge not to allow any aggressor the use of Turkish territory as a pathway for attacks on Iraq, Iran, Palestine, Suez, or the vitally important Caucasus and Mosul oil fields.

It was learned that the Turks, looking to Britain for the promised arms and munitions did not ask the United States for lend-lease aid, played no role in the negotiations, and made no pledges or commitments to the United States government.

GERMANS SHIFT TROOPS

NEW YORK (AP) — The BBC reported today that new German troops have been rushed to defenses along Bulgaria's southern frontier with Turkey, to which President Roosevelt has extended United States lend-lease aid.

Cut Typists to Speed Output Of Planes

OTTAWA (CP) — To simplify and speed output of warplanes in Canada, current manufacture now is being confined to seven types of planes compared with 15 types which at one time or another have been in production, the Munitions Department said today in a statement issued on behalf of Munitions Minister Howe.

Nearly 34,000 Canadian workers and technicians, including a large number of girls, have a "full speed ahead" order on new aircraft which bring to more than 8,000 the number of warplane contracts which have been awarded since the outbreak of war," the department said.

The seven types making up the present Canadian production program are: An elementary trainer, the Fairchild Fokkerman, a single-engined advanced trainer, the North American Harvard; a twin-engined advanced trainer, the Canadian Anson; a twin-engined reconnaissance bomber and bombing and gunnery trainer, the Bristol Bolingbroke; a coastal reconnaissance amphibian, the PBY5 Catalina; a twin-engined fighter, and a four-engined long range bomber, the Lancaster.

SEND PLANES OVERSEAS

Some aircraft for Canadian use are being made in the United States and Britain. When production of those two countries is added to that of Canadian factories, the program now underway not only meets all the training and service requirements in this country, but enables Canada to make further substantial contributions of service craft to the air forces of Britain and the Allies, the department said.

Advanced training and service craft now being built require from five to 20 times the number of man-hours as primary trainers. This has resulted in a substantial increase in employment throughout the industry. In December, 1939, only 4,948 were employed. By the end of last year the figure had reached nearly 36,000; by June of this year it was over 26,000; and since that time nearly 5,000, many of them girl workers, have been added.

ALL IS NOT ROSY in the camp of the Vancouver Norfans hockey club. After Tip O'Neill's lads suffered that 10 to 7 beating from Nanaimo Clippers Monday night O'Neill announced he would start getting tough with his protégés with the hope of getting some real hockey out of them. Officials of the Norfans are worrying about their support. They realize the fact Vancouverites will not support a losing team and Norfans have dropped five straight.

Norfans are still hoping to grab the services of Johnny Smith, the wayward Nelson Maple Leaf, who left his home town to report to our Bapcos and then got derailed or something in Vancouver. We can inform Manager O'Neill his chances of getting permission to sign Smith are mighty slim. Manager Ivan Temple of Bapcos stated today he would not relinquish his rights to Smith and as far as he was concerned Johnny could remain out of hockey this season. And Temple has the backing of the B.C. Hockey Association. General feeling is that Smith would never have moved out of Nelson unless he had the Victoria offer. It was then he decided to do a little shopping.

We wonder just how New Westminster Spitfires got their hands on goalie Johnny Fisher, formerly of Moose Jaw. He is the lad the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association slapped a suspension on after Fisher had attempted to accept a berth with a Maritimes club through replying to a newspaper advertisement. Fans will remember that Jesse Seaby was ordered to leave the Bapcos for taking over the goather's job with Moose Jaw. Fisher has not played in the Spitfires' nets as yet.

Baseball Trades

Reds Buy Hemsley

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds bought catcher Rollie Hemsley from the Cleveland Indians today in a straight cash deal which was announced shortly after last night's game.

The deal came as a complete surprise because there had been no hint that the American League had wavered on Hemsley and none of the Cincinnati officials had been seen conferring with Cleveland.

Hemsley, who has been considered one of the leading catchers of the major leagues, was with Cincinnati in 1933 as one chapter in a long and speckled baseball career.

Apparently the deal was the first step in a move to smooth out turbulent elements among the Indians for the new manager, Lou Boudreau.

RIDDLE AFTER MONEY

Elmer Riddle jumped the hold-out season today and was reported putting the bee in Cincinnati for a flat doubling of his 1941 pay cheque.

Riddle, who went to Cincinnati from Birmingham in 1939, was the pitching sensation of the National League last season when he won 19 games and lost 4, establishing an earned run average of about 2.20. The previous year he worked in 15 games as a relief pitcher, winning one and losing two.

Riddle's 1941 salary was not disclosed, but baseball men estimated it in the neighborhood of $6,000 or $7,000.

The Chicago Cubs traded outfielder Hank Leiber to the New York Giants for pitcher Bob Bowman and an unannounced sum of cash.

Leiber, who formerly played with the Giants, is one of the leading sluggers of the National League, while Bowman, a right hander, is a promising pitcher whom the Giants obtained about a year ago from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dominoes Play Tookes Saturday

By PETE SALLAWAY

Appearance of the Spitfires

here Friday may mark the first playing appearance in the amateur circuit of Sammy McAdam, manager of the New Westminster outfit.

McAdam has been white-washed by the amateur hockey bosses and it is just possible will make his debut on Victoria ice.

The Spitfires are also reported to have signed two other Moose

Jaw players, Metka and Nappier.

They are just a couple of unknowns as far as we are concerned.

Line-ups of all the coast circuit clubs will be definitely settled

now, as Dec. 1 was the deadline for bringing in players.

There has been quite a bit of shuffling around since the league opened so far this season.

Neal, Stout,

Pratt, J. Campbell, D. Campbell and Jack Inglis, former Victoria boy, will fill out the roster.

Dominoes will be in there for that sweet morsel of satisfaction called revenge. Earlier this season in Vancouver Dominoes lost

one to three points to Tookes after losing Norman Baker and Dietrich Nicol through fouls.

Dave Nicoll says it won't happen this time. With his lads in far better shape for the return game and playing on their home floor, he expects to beat the mainland team.

The game will start at 8:30 and will be preceded by a preliminary at 7:30.

In games last night at the YMCA, K.V.'s, Chinese Students and Esquimalt came through with wins. Teams and scores follow:

K-V's — Kershaw 4, Shubrook 5.

T. Taylor 2, K. Taylor, Howell 4,

L. Brown 8, Dicks and Doi 3.

Hoyle-Brown — Macfarlane 6,

Walker 4, Province 17, Oliver,

Hetherington 4, Desham and Wilkinson 4.

Chinese Students — Chang 2,

CY. MOORE FINED $300

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—William

A. Moore, former big league baseball pitcher, was convicted here Wednesday of striking a selective service board chairman.

Judge Bascome S. Deaver imposed

$300 fine, and Moore paid $1,000 appeal bond.

More was accused of striking

Fred W. Auld, Elbert County

chairman, in an argument over his classification for the draft.

Playing to a 7 to 7 deadlock in the first game of a scheduled six-game road trip with Lethbridge Maple Leafs last Friday, Smokies have lost two matches to Calgary and one other to Leafs.

Wednesday night's victory sent

Spedders to within one point of the league-leading Lethbridge club.

A former Turner Valley star,

Peter Atkinson, led Calgary with three goals while Trail's marksmen were counted by Ed Harrison and Mike Buckna.

Riddle's 1941 salary was not disclosed, but baseball men estimated it in the neighborhood of $6,000 or $7,000.

The Chicago Cubs traded outfielder Hank Leiber to the New York Giants for pitcher Bob

Bowman and an unannounced sum of cash.

Leiber, who formerly played with the Giants, is one of the leading sluggers of the National League, while Bowman, a right hander, is a promising pitcher whom the Giants obtained about a year ago from the St. Louis Cardinals.

There was only one knockout in the Canadian welterweight championship bout at Toronto and strangely enough Sonny Jones, the contender, suffered that indignity in the midst of his very best round. Jones had to do desperate deeds to win the scuffle as the bell for the 10th chimed and he rushed out to do them. He was moving along in rare style, too, punching the champion, Dave Castilloux, all over the place, when the champ brought up a short right that landed with a dull thud on Jones' chin. Down went Sonny, not for long, just one count, but the camera caught it. Castilloux retained his title by a clear margin.

Judge Orders Abitibi Sold

TORONTO (CP)—Motion of the Montreal Trust Company asking that property and assets of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, now in receivership, be sold without reserve bid was granted by Mr. Justice W. E. Middleton of the Supreme Court of Ontario in a judgment delivered here today.

Argument on the application, made by the trust company on behalf of the bondholders' committee, was heard last Thursday.

Mr. Justice Middleton also ruled the Abitibi Power and Paper Company Limited moratorium act was ultra vires the Ontario Legislature. The act was designed to stay until December, 1942, proceedings to be taken under a previous order made by Mr. Justice Middleton June 10, 1940, directing sales of all assets of bankruptcies, which excluded under a mortgage by the company.

The Ontario government Oct. 9 passed an order-in-council providing for a proclamation bringing the act into force Oct. 11. It had been assented to April 9, 1941.

Ontario law officers said an appeal is likely to be made by the Attorney-General against Mr. Justice Middleton's judgment. It was intimated the appeal would be carried to the Privy Council in London if necessary.

STOCKS DROP

Heavy selling of the Abitibi stocks developed on the stock market following news of the court decision. The preferred came through in blocks of 100 and the price dropped $2.75 to $5.90 and the common 25 cents.

During hearing of argument last Thursday, counsel for the trust company and for the bondholders' committee, C. F. H. Carson, K.C., and Glyn Osler, K.C., respectively, claimed the Abitibi act was ultra vires the Legislature because it invaded the field sively was under the jurisdiction of the federal Parliament, as laid down by the British North America Act.

Attorney-General Gordon Co- nanc argued for the province that the case was an ordinary mortgage action brought in the Ontario Supreme Court and as such was subject to provincial laws. He said Dominion legislation regarding bankruptcy and insolvency contemplated acts of provincial Legislature regarding property and civil rights and administration of justice.

DREW URGES U.S. ENTER WAR SOON

NEW YORK (CP)—The United States must enter the war "while Britain is still strong" if the world is to be freed from the threat of Nazi domination and if a negotiated peace, which necessarily would be the prelude to a more terrible struggle, is to be avoided, Lt.-Col. George A. Drew said here today.

All who live in freedom must be prepared to fight total war to preserve that freedom, the Ontario Conservative leader told the Canadian Club of New York in a luncheon address, and added: "I do not believe that we in Canada or you in the United States are helping Britain nearly as much as they are helping us."

Britain has given Canada and the United States "more than some measure of protection" against Nazi aggression, he said. She has given these countries "a new understanding of the true values of life" and has herself got back to a full appreciation of the simple and decent things which make life worthwhile."

Diaz Down in Fifth

VANCOUVER (CP)—Kenny Lindsay, blond Vancouver bantamweight fighter, carved another notch in hisistic belt here Wednesday night, when he belted out a five-round knockout over Nash Diaz of Los Angeles in an overweight main event. Lindsay weighed 122 pounds and Diaz 119.

Lindsay's most effective weapon, and the one that chopped Diaz to the canvas for the count at 2:01 minutes of the fifth, was a hard left hook to the solar plexus.

The little Vancouver fighter forced the fight throughout. He hammered Diaz from corner to corner with a punishing, two-fisted attack to the head and body.

Both fighters chose to "mix it" from the starting bell but Lindsay proved far superior for the Los Angeles boy, who continually was in trouble.

DAZ GAME

Blood appeared on Diaz in the second but the game little fighter vainly attempted to force the fight in the third. He was stopped dead by a stiff left hook that knocked him half way through the ropes.

With his opponent staggered, Lindsay went in for the kill and but appeared too anxious and failed to land another solid punch and Diaz weathered the flurry.

"I offered my services in any capacity," he said. "But, I guess, I was overlooked." Murphy, a six-footer, who weighs 236 pounds, passed his medical examination with A category. Boy, Hit By Car, Dies at Hospital Struck by an automobile at 5:55 Wednesday night at Esquimalt Road, near Russell Street, Ronald McGinnis, age 9, 658 Langford Street, was fatally injured. He was rushed to the Jubilee Hospital in a city police patrol car. Dr. S. Janowsky, who attended, announced him dead at 7:30.

Young McGinnis was struck by a light delivery truck driven east on Esquimalt Road by John Douglas. Fighter, 1379 Esquimalt Road. City police report the boy ran from the south curb into the path of the oncoming vehicle. He suffered head injuries and possible internal injuries.

Before the accident, young McGinnis was playing with three other boys, Harry McMicking, 321 Maitland Street, age 12, and Gordon and Victor Brahn, 315 Langford Street, aged 5 and 9, respectively.

Leading Stoker W. Earthly, Naden 1, Mess 133, was a passenger in Fighter's car.

Raymond Gandy, 1220 Styles Street, an onlooker at the scene of the accident, fainted and was taken home by the police.

Born at Grande Prairie, Alta., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. McGinnis, the boy had been living in Victoria for about eight months and was a pupil at the Victoria West School. He is survived by his parents, two brothers, Clifton and Arthur, and a sister, Jean, all of Victoria, and grandparents in England.

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, has arranged an inquest for Friday at 10 at Sands' Mortuary Limited. The funeral will be conducted from the parlor chapel on Saturday, interment being at Royal Oak.

Turkeys May Be Cheaper This Year

Christmas turkeys may be cheaper this year in Victoria following an announcement from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board that the maximum price will be 31 cents a pound for Grade A birds in Vancouver. It was indicated that prices in Victoria will drop to the same level shortly. Present prices are as high as 42 cents a pound.

This is between two and three cents higher than last year.

The statement issued by the board said customary premiums for quality will be allowed provided they do not exceed the set maximum price by more than two cents a pound.

Price levels for all other grades, sub-grades and weights will be left to find their own price levels or price differentials relative to, but not above, the maximum set for Grade A.

The board said it was necessary to decide on a price level because few turkeys other than storage stocks were sold during the basic period Sept. 15 to Oct. 11.

The condition of Reginald Graham, a pedestrian knocked down by an automobile Saturday night at Bay and Quadra, was not as good today. Jubilee Hospital authorities said. Graham was brought to hospital in a critical condition with compound fracture of both legs and head injuries.

As a man thinks, so he is—if he can persuade his wife to agree with him.

Sun for Victoria; Snow in Vancouver

While Victoria residents went to work under a typical spring sun this morning, Vancouverites found a blanket of wet and slushy snow, the first of the season there.

Several hours later the sun had cleared it away. The snow there had come after a heavy rainfall, which lasted until 4:30 this morning, after that the slushy snow, fell for a few hours. It is predicted that the sun here will continue until tomorrow, with little or no rain.

500 Licenses For Price Ceiling

Victoria Post Office still has a supply of license application forms for persons manufacturing, processing or selling, wholesale and retail, who are required by order-in-council of the Dominion government to have licenses from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

To date the Victoria Post Office has issued over 500 forms which have to be filled out and forwarded to the Director of Licensing, Ottawa.

The licensing law became effective Monday as part of the machinery of price control. Licenses run for six months, expiring on March 31 and Sept. 30 of each year.

Small purple and gold insignia are appearing on the front doors of Victoria business houses. It is required under the order each licensee put the insignia provided by the board in a conspicuous place.

The filing of applications for jeepneys has been going on for almost a month. Many business houses have not as yet completed process required by the order.

Not only must each licensee co-operate with Vancouver to the extent of keeping that city posted on the work being done by Victoria and would, in turn, secure similar information from the mainline centre.

SELL-OUT HOUSE FOR ROTARY SHOW

A person operating more than one business must show that in the application form but need only make one application. Persons operating business at different places and under different names must make application under each name of business.

This is between two and three cents higher than last year.

The statement issued by the board said customary premiums for quality will be allowed provided they do not exceed the set maximum price by more than two cents a pound.

Engage E. S. Farr For Rate Probe

Prof. E. S. Farr will conduct Victoria's presentations to the Public Utilities Commission on the B.C. Electric Railway Co. rates, Mayor Andrew McGavin announced today following a meeting between Prof. Farr and the council a committee of the town.

C. A. Mudge of the Victoria office of the Employment Service of Canada said today men from the prairies register every day at the employment offices, almost all looking for work in the shipyards, but the shipyards have all the unskilled workers they need. They want skilled men only. There is an acute shortage of workers proficient in trades.

Mr. Mudge said there was always a seasonal influx of men from the prairies at this time of year. They came to the coast after the end of the harvest season, attracted by the mild weather.

He also called for provision of complaints and appraisals and other available public utility data on electric energy and its supply.

FULL RESPONSIBILITY

The obligations assumed by Prof. Farr were outlined in his letter to the council this week, in it he wrote:

"I offer to secure the necessary accounting, engineering and economic talent to examine in detail the Public Utility Commission's document; to prepare therefrom criticisms and arguments; and to assume responsibility of presenting the city's case before the commission."

I offer as collaborator with me in the undertaking Dr. Eliot Jones of Stanford University . . . We will secure competent engineering and accountants assistants. We have a very able electrical engineer in mind—one of the most outstanding men in his field. I offer to undertake full responsibility for the assembling of experts and for the preparation and presenting the case."

Prof. Farr indicated he would co-operate with Vancouver to the extent of keeping that city posted on the work being done by Victoria and would, in turn, secure similar information from the mainline centre.

A person operating more than one business must show that in the application form but need only make one application. Persons operating business at different places and under different names must make application under each name of business.

Prairie Influx Brings Unskilled Labor Surplus

Hundreds of unskilled laborers from Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba have been flocking to Victoria during the last month, have found little demand for their services and now have created a surplus of unskilled labor in the city.

This year, according to Mr. Mudge, the men, unable to find work in the shipyards, have been placed in other work by the employment service, usually construction jobs, which have now slackened considerably. They stay hoping for work and when they fail to find it move elsewhere, or get jobs themselves mostly in the lumber mills.

"We have enough local men to take care of all the unskilled labor demands in Victoria," Mr. Mudge said. He explained that many men on the island were employed in seasonal, summer work, and like the men from the prairies they also come to the city in winter looking for employment.

On Sea, Land and in AirCanada's Men Playing Notable Part in War

By JAMES McCOOK

OTTAWA (CP)—On sea, on land and in the air Canada's armed forces have hammered at the Axis this year.

More than one enemy submarine lies on the ocean floor after attacks by ships of the Royal Canadian Navy. Many thousands of soldiers and airmen and millions of tons of foodstuffs and war supplies have been safely convoyed across the Atlantic. Enemy merchantmen have been interdicted.

Besides strengthening its establishment in Britain the Canadian (active) army took part in a lightning raid on Spitsbergen, helped strengthen the fortifications at Gibraltar, maintained forces in Newfoundland and the West Indies and sent a garrison force to Hongkong.

The air force shot down score upon score of German planes, Canadian-trained airmen now are stationed wherever the Royal Air Force operates. Tons of bombs have fallen on enemy objectives from Canadian-manned aircraft.

The year's operations were not without cost to the Dominion. The navy lost two small ships and navy casualties now total more than 400 since the war began. The army's dead and missing are about 500 and the air force—playing a big part in the increased offensive activities—has lost more than 1,000.

The Spitsbergen raid last September was the most spectacular Canadian military development of the year. Under Canadian command a joint force of Canadian, British and Norwegian troops struck at the Arctic islands to destroy coal mines the Germans hoped to use, wreck weather signalling stations and removed friendly Russian and Norwegian miners and their families. No enemy interference was encountered but the expedition was praised for its efficiency.

OVERSEAS AND HOME

Now in Britain are the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 5th (armored) divisions, an army tank brigade and thousands of corps and army troops. The 4th Division has been mobilized in Canada and establishment of a 6th Division was authorized recently and now is under way.

Lieut.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton remains in command of the Canadian Corps overseas. Maj.-Gen. W. F. Peacock overseas is in command of the 1st Division, Maj.-Gen. H. D. G. Creer the 2nd, Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price the 3rd, and Maj.-Gen. E. W. Sansom the armored division. The 4th Division commander is Maj.-Gen. L. F. Page while no on the way. Freight ships leaving Canada for the United Kingdom since the war began made 7,000 convoys carrying 42,500,000 tons of cargo, and a "great deal" of the work of convoying these ships and their cargoes fell to Canadian vessels.

The two Canadian ships lost this year were the Otter, an armed patrol ship, which caught fire and foundered off Halifax in March, with the loss of 19 men, and later in the year, the corvette Lewis, which was torpedoed when escorting a convoy and sank with loss of 17 men.

Mr. Macdonald said: "I think you can say modestly that the personnel of our navy has brought honor to itself and to his country." No effort in thought and labor would be spared in carrying out the duties of the navy, "which are so vital to the successful prosecution of this war."

commander has been named yet for the 6th.

Only change in overseas command during the year was in the 2nd Division, following appointment of Maj.-Gen. Victor W. Oldham as new high commissioner to Australia.

Canadian army formations have occupied vital sections of the front line in Britain and defence of Britain has been the most important work so far for the more than 110,000 men overseas. But the emphasis in training has been for offensive action expected in future.

Thousands of Canadian airmen and vast supplies of air equipment have crossed the Atlantic during the year, with the objective of sending squadrons overseas with full equipment and their own ground crews.

AIR FORCE CHANGES

Air Vice-Marshal Harold Edwards, a veteran Canadian airmen, went overseas as air-officer-in-chief of the R.C.A.F. in the United Kingdom. Air Commodore L. F. Smedman, his predecessor, was called back to Canada for service on the Pacific coast, bringing with him invaluable experience gained under combat conditions.

Sixteen Canadian squadrons are in active operation overseas, and one was recently sent to the Middle East. Thousands of Canadians are in the Royal Air Force and radio mechanics and ground crews have been supplied.

Major Power said it is expected that before long 25 Canadian squadrons in the United Kingdom would be fully equipped from this side.

Output of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, Major Power said, is more than had been hoped for, and the numbers are greater than was expected when the plan was conceived.

Anyone who has been overseas knows that our boys are there," Major Power said recently. "They are there in bombers, there at their stations, and there over Germany every night. They are there in Tripoli and Libya and Russia—and everywhere. Wherever the Royal Air Force is, there they are."

NAVY ACHIEVEMENT

Some of Canada's 300 naval vessels are convoy work, some are protecting Canadian shores, and others are co-operating with the Royal Navy.

Navy Minister Macdonald said in the House of Commons it is a source of gratification that not one ship going to tropic convoy from Canada to Great Britain has lost a single passenger.

A second all-time record, 918,323 cases of canned chum salmon was set during the fishing season now closed until next spring.

NOTICE TO MARINERS

Mariners are advised that the unwatched light on Gabriola Reef, Strait of Georgia, is reported not burning. This light will be attended to as soon as possible.

Mariners are advised that without further notice an unwatched flashing white light will be established on Mawinahli Island at the northern entrance to Quatsino Narrows, Quatsino Sound, B.C.

DUBLIN (CP)—Tuskar Light is a 110-foot structure on a pinpoint of rock in St. George's Channel, six miles off the southeast tip of Elre.

As the beams of the light swept the dark seas Tuskar kept one of the three keepers spied a globular floating object. With each toss of the waves it drifted a little nearer to Tuskar Rock. With quickened pulses the men realized it was a stray mine.

For two hours they watched as the washed inexorably closer and closer, now wavering in the trough, now surging on the crest, but closing up the gap, inch by breathless inch.

As is the custom with light-house keepers, they were marooned in their tower. They could only wait and stare—and tend the light.

Ashore at Rossare, harbormen saw a blinding flash out at sea and heard a rumbling explosion. They put out a lifeboat.

In the kitchen of Tuskar Light they found Keeper Patrick Canlon, dying of injuries, Keeper William Cahill covered by the debris of walls, ceiling and furniture, but otherwise unhurt.

Upstairs, beside the light lay Keeper Peter Roddy, knocked out by the great stones and torrent of water hurled up to his aerie by the explosion.

Tuskar Light still shone.

C.P.R. Earnings Up $10,000,000

MONTREAL—As Canadian Pacific Railway approaches end of one of the most active years in its history, evidences accumulate that the company for 1941 will show a substantial improvement in earnings over last year and the best profits showing since 1930, despite the very heavy war taxes and the drain of increased wage payments, including living cost bonuses.

While the final results must depend on various write-offs and other deductions and adjustments, unofficial estimates are suggesting earnings for this year of somewhere between $1.75 and $2 a share on the common, as compared with actual figures reported for 1940 of $1.12 a common share.

For the first nine months of this year, net operating profits were close to $30,000,000, an increase of about $9,500,000 over last year.

Thus an increase of at least $10,000,000 for full year appears assured, particularly as gross revenues continue to show substantial gains over last year. "Other Income," which was over $10,500,000 last year, should be higher this year.

The telegraph subsidiary is understood to have been more active, and express, hotels and other activities also have been affected favorably by higher tempo of business activity and increased tourist inflow this year.

British Return More Oil Tankers to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A fish cannery on Galiano Island, about nine miles from here, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night. The cannery, operated by the Morebys Island Fisheries, was converted recently from a saltery and new machinery was installed.

A provincial police boat was reported rushing aid to the fire scene from Ganges in an attempt to prevent the blaze from spreading to two nearby salteries.

Release of the tankers, Ickes said, was made possible by improvement in the British petroleum situation. The total number released from the British service since early October is 38.

Salmon Pack Sets All-time Record

TORONTO (CP)—Chief Engineer Artificer James Sherriff, on arrival in Toronto on a mission for the Royal Navy, described the furious action he experienced in the battle of Crete, in which his brother was killed.

For 30 days his cruiser fought off waves of German planes for 14 hours a day. Progress of battles and all enemy airplanes bagged by the ship's guns were reported over the ship's public address system, as "you broadcast a football game." In one day alone the ship brought down 39 planes.

U-Boat Sank Huge Liner in 20 Minutes

Undersea boats, better known as U-boats or submarines, have brought new problems to travel in wartime. No matter how "peaceful" a journey a person may want to make, he is in danger of losing his life when he travels on the ocean.

The sinking of the Robin Moor was one proof of such danger. When it was hundreds of miles away from any of the so-called "war zones," it was hit and sunk by a torpedo. The passengers and crew members leapt into life-boats. After drifting around the Atlantic, they were at last rescued.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

"Submarine on starboard bow!" ANSWER: A volcano rock tower in Wyoming; a basaltic rock formation in Ireland; a constellation of stars.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Has a parent or a grandparent the right to punish a precious child by putting it to bed without its supper?

L.M.

Answer—I belong to the spanking instead of the starvation school of thought in dealing with children, but any part in a storm. And if the only way you can reach the finer feelings of a "precious child" is by making it go without its supper, then I am all for cutting out the cookies.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been deaf ever since the age of four, when I was afflicted with spinal meningitis. I attended a school for the deaf, but I have never learned to read lips or to talk with any degree of clarity. Consequently most of my communion with others is done in writing, as I dislike the sign language and have never taken the trouble to learn it. I do not intend to let this ruin my life. I am determined to make good in spite of it. However, it is discouraging that girls don't care to go out with me. I suppose it is because girls do not like to be seen, writing their conversation. I do not blame the girls for this, but I want to have good times as other boys do. What would you advise?

D.P.

Answer—I think you will find it absolutely necessary to learn to read lips expertly and to talk clearly, if that is possible. Girls don't mean to be selfish, but it is difficult and cumbersome to have to write casual conversations that are so trivial they don't seem worth while putting on paper. You have my deep sympathy in your affliction and my admiration for the courage with which you meet it.

DOROTHY DIX.

In those days the world did not know so much about the dangers from submarines. There had been some sinkings, to be sure, but most passengers believed above all least would be a warning before a large passenger liner was torpedoed.

Submarine on the starboard bow!

The shout came too late. There was no time for the pilot to try to zigzag out of the way of harm. A torpedo came streaking through the water and struck its mark.

T.

Quickly the passengers and crew fastened their life-jackets and made ready to step into lifeboats, but in only 20 minutes the mighty vessel sank. There had not been enough time to launch all the boats. Eleven hundred and ninety-eight men, women and children died in the tragedy.

U.

Among the 708 who were saved, some had strange stories to tell. Two women were struggling in the water when a man with an oar came near. He told each of them to take hold of one end of his oar, then he pushed the oar as he swam to a canvas raft, where all three were taken safely aboard.

LONDON (CP)—A nephew of Mrs. Winston Churchill, Flying Officer Esmond Mark David Romilly, who has packed a variety of adventure into his 22 years, is reported missing in action on the eve of a planned reunion with his wife and their nine-months-old son.

R.C.A.F. headquarters in Britain said Romilly did not return from overseas air operations at the beginning of December, which probably means he either is dead or a prisoner of war.

OVERSEAS MAIL

OTTAWA (CP)—Postmaster-General Mulock again draws attention to a falling-off in the correct addressing of mail for men overseas, and in particular to those members of the R.C.A.F. serving with R.A.F. units.

Location of these men is kept by the R.A.F. record rather than by the R.C.A.F., it is essential the fact the addressee is with a R.A.F. unit be indicated by including the words "attached Royal Air Force" in the address unless the number of the R.A.F. unit is known, which should in that case be given. It also helps if the indication "Royal Canadian Air Force Overseas" is given instead of "Canadian Army Overseas."

The address of men of the R.C.A.F. serving overseas should include the following information:

If serving with a R.C.A.F. unit overseas:

Number,
Rank, surname, followed by initials.
Name of unit (when known), Royal Canadian Air Force, Overseas.
Example for R.C.A.F. unit: (Can.) R 1723, Sgt. Black, J. W., No. 401 Squadron, R.C.A.F., Royal Canadian Air Force, Overseas.

If attached to an R.A.F. unit overseas:

Number,
Rank, surname, followed by initials.

In the case of R.C.A.F. officers the form of address is the same except the air force number should be written after the name and rank of the officer.

Place-names may be used in addressing mail to officers and airmen with R.A.F. units, but when place-names are used the name of the unit must not be imposed, the minister said.

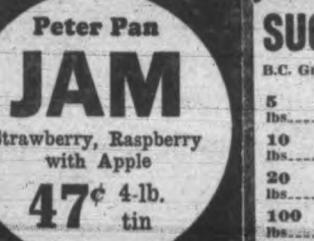

In the case of parcels, if a place-name is included in the address, they will be handled through the civil postal service, overseas, and there is a possibility customs charges may be imposed, the minister said.

If you think women are cowards, just blow your auto horn to make one get out of the way.

Some people wonder why they don't get on when all they're trying to do is get by.

You have to have more than polish to shine in this world.
